DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The St. John's Reformed Church is a one and one-half story rectangular brick building laid in common bond which faces west from the east side of Route 85.

The principal facade is three bays wide. The main entrance, twin Gothic paneled recessed doors are located in a one bay wide brick entrance addition covered by a front gable with standing seam tin roof supported by brackets.

Gothic Victorian windows with etched glass occupy the remaining two bays on the principal facade. A round louvered frame vent with quadrafoil decoration is located in the center of the front gable.

The building which is constructed on a low random stone foundation is three bays deep. Gothic Victorian windows with etched glass are located in each bay on the north and south sides of the building. A cornerstone stating "1884 St. John's Reformed Church" is located in the northwest corner. A door with stone porch has replaced the second bay on the south side.

The entire building is covered by a steep standing seam tin roof supported by decorative brackets and connected by a corbeled brick cornice. A single brick chimney rises from the northeast corner of the building.

The interior of the church was converted to a private residence in the 1950's, however, original stencil art on the ceiling and carved wood moldings with Ionic columns over where the pulpit was once located remains intact.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Saint John's Reformed Church, converted into a private residence in the 1950's, was organized according to Williams, History of Frederick County on January 14, 1882 at a meeting held in the Methodist Episcopal Church in town.

"The pastor of the Jefferson charge, Reverend N. H. Skyles, was assisted in effecting the organization by Reverend T. F. Hoffmeier. Twenty-seven persons were enrolled as members. The congregation continued to worship in the Methodist Episcopal Church (the original stone structure) until the completion of their own house of worship. Under the leadership of their pastor, Reverend A. J. Heller, they erected a brick building with recess pupit and a vestibule, which was dedicated to the service of the Lord on the ninth day of June, 1885. The building committee consisted of the following persons: M. J. Grove, William Kreig, E. L. H. Delashmutt, Otho J. Keller, and the pastor, A. J. Heller."¹

The Saint John's Reformed Church was one of four churches which held services in Buckeystown.
